sand Dollars to a Brazilian Mission.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. R. Gammon, of the Presbyterian Mission in Brazil, who have been spending some days in Richmond, have left for Bedford City and Rural Retreat.

Mr. Gammon gives a most interesting account of the work in the South American country. He says that, begun in 1809, after thirty-four years of patient work, the Presbyterian Church there now has 10,000 communicants. There are thirty American missionaries from the Southern Presbyterian Church there in the North and sixteen in the South. It is hoped to educate a native ministry, and so equip the church there that, before many years, the work will no longer be foreign missions, but the work of an educated and zealous Christian Church in its own land. He hopes to live to see that day.

Very much interest is felt in the Christian educational work at Campinas and Layras, as presented by Mr. Gammon, A lady of the First Church, of this city, has given $1,000 to this work, and it is hoped to secure the additional amount needed to purchase and improve school property at Savras and to carry on school work at Campinas, now belonging to the Presbyterian Church.

Judge Herrick decided that the trial must proceed and ordered the warden to bring the prisoner into the court. He collapsed when placed in a chair, and then struggling up made an attempt to speak, saying: "I'm not crazy now."

religious influence may be brought effectively to bear. Plans are now being matured and will shortly be put into operation. The start will probably be made on a small scale, but the work is a most interesting one, and promises to develop along broad lines.

It is likely that rooms will very shortly be opened and rurnished for the purpose of the scheme. All sorts and conditions of men will be received—those without a home, those just out of prison, those just from nowhere, and so on—will be received and given help.

In connection with this matter, and other plans by the society, a mass-meeting of all the Episcopal congregations of the city will be held Sunday evening next at St. Paul's Church. The gathering is designed to arouse interest in the work of the society, and to get its aims and objects clearly before the people.

Hishop Robert A. Gibson, president of the society, will preside at this meeting. Addresses on the present work of the society, will preside at this meeting.
